

The Program on Arab Reform and Democracy at the Center on Democracy, Development, and the Rule of Law presents a conference

DEMOCRATIC TRANSITION IN EGYPT

Friday, April 29, 2011

8:30-5:30 pm

Bechtel Conference Center , Encina Hall, Stanford University

Co-sponsored by Stanford's Abbasi Program in Islamic Studies

The Program on Arab Reform and Democracy invites you to a one-day conference, which will bring together leading Egypt academics from American, Egyptian, and European universities and think tanks to evaluate the state of democratic transition in Egypt. Panels will examine the background to the revolution, discuss the role of opposition parties and civil society, and forecast Egypt's political future. This conference will provide diverse perspectives to study this timely event that has larger implications for democratic change and political stability across the Arab world.

To view the conference program and RSVP, please visit: http://cddrl.stanford.edu/events/democratic_transition_in_egypt/or e-mail audrey.mcgowan@stanford.edu